My Journey in Environmental Health and Safety

A Need for Safety Focus

A Need For Safety

The history of Agriculture in our society dates to the origins of our country, as the years have passed we have seen this amazing industry become a strong economy for the United States.

Farming families, and organizations that are dedicated to feed the nation have seen this growth as well as the occupational challenges that come along with it.

A Need For Safety

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), in 2009, approximately 1,783,000 full-time workers were employed in the agriculture industry in the U.S. During the same year, 440 farmers and farm workers died from work-related injuries.

A Need For Safety

Each day, approximately 243 agricultural workers suffer lost-time injuries, with five percent of these resulting in permanent impairments, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.
